Aachen – One City, Lots of Programme

Some say that the special thing about Aachen is its location at the border triangle Germany – Netherlands – Belgium. Others say that it is the beautiful Old Town or Aachen Cathedral that attracts the many visitors to the city. We say: it's all that – and much more. But find out for yourself what makes Germany's westernmost city so special and get to know Aachen with your group together with us!

We'll show you the most beautiful must-sees on our bestselling tours, some with interactive elements where you can join in and solve fun puzzles. Do you have special interests or want to deepen your knowledge? Then our themed tours (only available in German) are just the thing for you.

Foodies will get their money's worth on our culinary experience tours. Aachen Cathedral – our beautiful UNESCO World Heritage Site – inspires more than a million visitors every year, and Aachen's museums are home to exciting contemporary history and outstanding art treasures, which you can experience even better with a guided tour. A visit to the theatre will be another highlight of your time in Aachen, and our charming surroundings in the Euregio will leave you enchanted.

Anecdotes, Legends & Stories

Little secrets and exciting stories bring you closer to Aachen's past. As not all of the city's history has been well documented, the Aacheners – clever, eloquent and helpful – have imaginatively filled in the gaps with legends and stories. On this entertaining tour, you will hear exciting facts about famous sights, but also where the Klappergasse got its name from and where the Bahkauv was up to mischief. Charlemagne, witches and devils are of course also included!

In the Footsteps of Franziska Schervier

Follow us in the footsteps of Franziska Schervier, daughter of a needle manufacturer, who defied her family's social status and went her own way. She recognised the problems of the socially disadvantaged in the 19th century, cared for the sick and provided housing for workers and education for their children. Be inspired by the story of the founder of the order and visit places where she worked, including the mother house, where nuns still help those in need.

On Small Feet through Aachen

What scared the chicken thief, and how did the shell get into the wall? Didn't Charlemagne know how to write, why does the water in Aachen smell so bad, and how did the devil's thumb get into the gate of the Cathedral? This guided tour is designed to give children a new perspective of the city. It is geared to children between 5 and 11 years of age and is also suitable for kindergartens and primary schools.

Global Aachen – The Work of Small Hands

Exciting aspects of the fair trade city: this tour through the Old Town encourages reflection on child labour, social injustice and social upheaval – buzzwords that are often used to describe the era of industrialisation in Germany. But what was the situation like in Aachen? And what impact did industrialisation have on the former cloth city? Find out lots of interesting information about the economic development of the city and its social consequences. This tour, which takes you to Katschhof and Lindenplatz, among other places, raises awareness of conscious consumer behaviour and shows how social behaviour has developed over the centuries.

Global Aachen – Economic Ties

Discover interesting facts about the economic ties that Aachen has maintained since the Stone Age along well-known and lesser known places in the city centre. Due to advances in production technology, energy supply and transport conditions, but also due to the dynamic political landscape, these developed into global interdependencies. From flint mining in the Neolithic Age to trade relations with the Middle East in the Carolingian period and cloth production – economic co-operation has existed at all times. Today, the universities with their international contacts and research results are at the focus of globalisation.

Aachen Cathedral

Germany's first UNESCO World Heritage Site

Aachen Cathedral is one of the main sights in Aachen. The architecture and furnishings emphasise the importance of the building. With its treasures and furnishings, it has been the first German UNESCO World Heritage Site since 1978.

Image motif: Aachen Cathedral

Aachen Cathedral

Aachen Cathedral, the seat of the Bishop of Aachen, is a building that has grown over 1,200 years. The collegiate church built by Charlemagne around the year 800 is still completely preserved today and forms the core of the church building. Until the 19th century, almost every style epoch added something new. The most important addition is the choir hall, completed in 1414. The Cathedral is the burial place of Charlemagne and Otto III and an important pilgrimage site throughout Europe. From 936 to 1531, it was the coronation site of German kings.

The Cathedral Treasury

The Aachen Cathedral Treasury contains one of the most important church treasures in Europe. The extensive collection focuses on goldsmithing and textile art. Works of art from 12 centuries bear witness to the long history of St Mary's Church in Aachen since Charlemagne. Outstanding works include the ancient Proserpine Sarcophagus, the Lothar Cross and the ivory situla from the era of the Ottonian emperors. The bust of Charlemagne and the Charlemagne reliquary contain relics of the holy emperor. Unique Romanesque and Gothic reliquaries contain the great Aachen shrine treasure, which attracted pilgrims from all over Europe.

General Terms and Conditions

For our guided tours

The general terms and conditions refer to offers of the organizer aachen tourist service e.v. ("ats")

1. Validity and prices

The offers shown, including prices, are valid at the time of the respective new edition. We reserve the right to adjust our prices and validity at any time. For guided tours starting after 6 p.m., the ats charges an evening surcharge of €20 per group. The foreign language surcharge €30 is already included in the mentioned rates, the 1/2 hour extension costs €30 per group.

2. Performances and changes in performances

The ats reserves the right to use a suitable tour guide according to the required qualification. The execution of the guided tour shall not be bound to a certain tour guide. The ats also reserves the right, after conclusion of agreement, to use a different tour guide than the one originally mentioned, if this, under consideration of the interests of ats, is still reasonable for the guest.

3. Mutually agreed changes in performances

Changes on a guest's request shall only be possible during office hours and are only binding, if ats has confirmed these changes in writing. Alteration requests must be made in written or electronic form. If the agreed services, in particular date, time, foreign languages, etc., are changed by the guest more than 2 times, the ats shall be entitled to charge a processing fee of €5 per service and group. The guest's right to proof minor damage shall be unaffected.

4. Delays

In case of a delay, the guest shall immediately inform ats. In principle the duration of the guided tour will correspondingly be shortened by the delay time. If the tour guide's time allows it, the guided tour can be extended. At a time extension of 15 to 30 minutes, costs will be increased by €30, in case of an extension between 31 and 60 minutes by €60. If the guest/the group of the guest has not arrived after 30 minutes waiting time without notification, it will be assumed that the guided tour is not made use of. The costs shall be invoiced according to the paragraph "cancellations".

5. Cancellations on the part of the guest

Withdrawal from contract (cancellation) shall only be possible during office hours of the ats and shall be made in written or electronic form. Until 7 days before execution of the service cancellation shall be free of charge. In case of cancellation until 24 hours before execution of the service, we will invoice 80 % of the order sum as well as the possibly occurring costs for ordered / mediated foreign services (bus, etc.). If the cancellation is made at a later point in time or the tour is not made use of, the full amount shall be invoiced. The guest's right to proof minor damage shall be unaffected.

6. Cancellations on the part of ats

The ats shall have the contractual right until 24 hours before execution of a booked tour, to withdraw from it or to cancel it. This can e.g. be the case, if a guide became ill and no substitute person could be found. In this case the booking fee shall not be charged or already paid amounts shall be reimbursed to the full amount.

7. Liability and limitation of liability

As an organizer for individual services ats shall be liable for intention and gross negligence. In case of slight negligence the ats shall only be liable, if an essential contractual obligation (cardinal obligation) is infringed. The claim for damages against ats, in case of slightly negligent infringement of contractual obligations, shall in principle be limited to a conclusion of the contract foreseeable possible damages typical for the contract concerned. These limitations of liability shall not be applicable to damages due to injury of life, body and health.

8. Photo, film and audio recordings

Recordings of the guided tour (photo, film or sound recording) shall only be permitted with prior express consent of the organizer/tour guide. Any publication of photos, film or sound recordings shall as well only be permitted after written consent of the organizer/tour guide. All copyrighted rights shall belong to the ats.

9. Online dispute resolution according to art. 14, paragraph 1 ODR-VO

The European Commission provides a platform for online dispute resolution (OS), which the customer finds at ec.europa.eu/consumers/odr/. The ats does not take part in any dispute settlement procedure of a consumer arbitration board and shall also legally not be obliged to take part in it.
